

RURAL CREDIT RIDER PERPLEXES SOLONS

Senate and House Leaders Fear
Legislative Jam Over Mc-
Cumber Amendment to Bill.

The rural credits rider on the agricultural appropriation bill today threatens a serious legislative jam in the closing days of the session.

Both Senate and House leaders are apprehensive over the insertion of the McCumber rural credits amendment, and the concern of the Administration was shown when Postmaster General Burleson hurried to the Capitol yesterday afternoon to aid the House Democrats in extricating themselves.

Government aid in its far-reaching form is proposed in the McCumber amendment, slipped into the agricultural bill while the Administration supporters in the Senate were napping, and the Administration is sorely against government aid. The problem now is to get a compromise through the two houses, instead of approving the direct loan-to-farmers idea and the $10,000,000 initial appropriation in the McCumber amendment.

Senate Democrats, struck with the exigencies of the situation, brought in a compromise measure from the Currency Committee late yesterday, and at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow morning the House Committee on Agriculture will meet to wrestle with the problem of settling some measure to the satisfaction of all. Mr. Fitzgerald, who is chairman of the Appropriations Committee, said that under the rules some might move to commit to the House the McCumber amendment after five minutes' debate.

Y. M. H. A. to Seek 300
Members Within Month

The Young Men's Hebrew Association tomorrow begins its campaign for "300 members in thirty days," under the direction of H. Offenberger, chairman of the membership campaign committee.

Captains of the respective five teams are Edward Rosenblatt, Michael Harris, Louis Rosenblatt, Edward Johnson, William Kroes, Samuel Rubenstein, Meyer Segal, and E. S. Goldstein.

The home of the association, at 1125 Fifth Street Northwest, contains a library and a number of finely furnished rooms. Included in the organization is a debating club, a chess and checker club, a dramatic club and an orchestra. Officers of the association are E. Loewer, M. H. M. president; M. H. Goldstein, first vice president; R. D. Goldstein, second vice president; Michael Harris, treasurer, and J. Berenstein, secretary.

Panama Canal Tolls

Amount to $2,000,000

In the five months and a half of its operation up to February 1, the total tolls collected on vessels passing through the Panama canal was $2,000,000, and the cargo tonnage totaled 2,195,856.

The largest traffic was eastbound, representing trade between the west coast of South America and the United States and Europe.

"Docked" Solons Look for Refund

Congressmen Moore and Humphreys, In Resolutions, Ask Repeal of Underwood Measure.

Isn't it enough to make a fellow mad when the House docks him for a week and then repeals the docking resolution without giving the money back?

Perhaps so; at any rate Congressman J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylvania avers that the time has arrived for the sergeant-at-arms of the House to refund the money taken from "docked" members last summer when it was found difficult to maintain a quorum.

Both Mr. Moore and Congressman Humphreys of Mississippi introduced resolutions in the House yesterday providing for a refund to members who were docked last summer. It is recalled that the House passed the Underwood docking resolution at a time when absenteeism flourished and the members who were here voted loudly to penalize those who were away.

Mr. Moore and Mr. Humphreys are rather consistent attendants upon the sessions of the House and are not related whether they were "docked," but probably two-score members of the House, who suffered losses anywhere from $20.54—the penalty for one day's absence during a brief period—to $200, would be glad to see the adoption of their resolutions.

The Underwood resolution was repealed after business in the House grew slack last summer and that adds to the indignation of the docked members.

WOULD NOT RETURN
CAPTURED FLAGS

Henry T. Breckenridge Tells the Southern Society Bitterness
Between States Has Passed

Opposition to the proposal for the return of all flags captured by the armies of the North and the South during the civil war was voiced by Assistant Secretary of War Henry T. Breckenridge at the annual banquet of the Southern Society at the Willard last night.

He said the bitterness between the North and South had entirely passed away. He believed the flags should be let alone. Referring to the loyalty of the men of the South, Mr. Breckenridge said that if they were ever needed again the Southern men would come forward with the same spirit as they did in 1861 for a united country and in the days of '61, when they were fighting for a divided country.

Attorney General Gregory urged that more monuments to heroes of the Confederacy and to mark historic spots of the civil war days be constructed. Claude N. Bennett, president of the society, was toastmaster. Among the speakers were Congressman Small of North Carolina, John Temple Graves, Congressman Heflin of Alabama, and Sydney Lanier. P. D. Good, Jr., gave several Southern dialect stories. Miss Irma Montgomery Gibson interpreted several dances.

The course begins Wednesday evening with a talk by Dr. Pratt on "Promotion and Financing of Foreign Trade." It will continue on successive Wednesday evenings for eight weeks.

Among the lecturers will be Secretary W. C. Redfield, of the Department of Commerce; Charles S. Donaldson, of the Department of Commerce, division of consular reports; Dr. Frank Rutter, assistant chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce; Robert F. Rose, foreign trade adviser, Department of State; Daniel C. Roper, first assistant postmaster general, and Dr. H. Parker Willis, secretary of the Federal Reserve Board.

The lectures are free, but course tickets must be obtained at the Y. M. C. A.

PEOLI WILL FLY UP PENNSYLVANIA AVE.

Aviator Will Take With Him Motion Picture Operator to Snap Capital Crowds.

Within two weeks Washingtonians will be given a real thrill when Cecil Peoli, in an aeroplane with a 140-horsepower engine, capable of a speed of eighty miles an hour, flies up Pennsylvania avenue, 200 feet above the level of the street. With him as passenger will be a motion picture operator, who will take pictures of the avenue crowds for the Hearst-Selig Company.

This will be the curtain raiser to a flight from Washington to Governor's Island, N. Y., which Mr. Peoli plans to make in two hours and a half, and another flight from New York to St. Louis between sunrise and sunset of a single day.

To Make 1,100-Mile Flight.
The distance between the two cities is 1,100 miles as the bird flies. It took Atwood fourteen days to make the trip. If Peoli makes the distance in a day it will be a new record for this country. A French aviator, however, has a record of 1,100-mile flight between sunrise and sunset.

Mr. Peoli now is building the aeroplane in which he will make his flights at the Washington Aeroplane Company plant. His machine is a biplane, with a spread of forty-eight and a length of twenty-six feet. The motor will be the largest by forty horsepower, of any in use in this country. It will have twelve cylinders.

The machine will have a six-hour fuel supply, all necessary instruments for navigation with hydro-aeroplane equipment on water, will be heavily armored and equipped to carry 500 pounds of bombs or other articles.

For Water or Land Flying.

The armor and bomb equipment was designed to meet the navy's needs, as the Peoli Aeroplane Corporation is a bidder in the competition to supply the navy with six armored hydro-aeroplanes. His machine is so constructed that it can be used either on land or water by changing the wheels to pontoons.

Harold Roberts, of New York, president of the Peoli company, is in Washington to witness the trial flights. Other members of the company are Joseph H. Day, Nicholas F. Brady, Hugh L. Connelley, and J. Schiefelbusch.

Mr. Peoli is the only man who has flown the Andes. He made the flight last Easter Sunday. Although only twenty-two years old, he has been flying four years.

He says he will give Washingtonians a thrill, although they are used to aeroplanes, when he flies up the Avenue and gives an exhibition in the Washington Monument grounds. The date for the Washington flight has not yet been definitely set, but Mr. Peoli said it would be within two weeks.

Preparedness of Navy Urged by H. Oden Lake

The need of naval preparedness was brought to the attention of veteran soldiers and sailors at the campfire in the United Service Club last night by H. Oden Lake, national commander of the Army and Navy Union.

In case of any untoward emergency, Commander Lake declared, the country would have to depend on its seasoned veterans with which to form a nucleus for the troops the country would need.

A paper written by Judge Joseph W. O'Neill, of Hamilton, Ohio, touching on the European war, was read by Capt. J. Walter Mitchell.

House Meets Tomorrow With Slate Nearly Clear

The House will meet tomorrow with a clean slate, insofar as the passage of appropriation measures is concerned. The last of the annual supply bills, the general deficiency, was passed at a night session last night. It carries approximately $1,000,000.

For the remaining four days of the session the House will devote itself to conference reports on appropriation measures which have been delayed in the Senate, omnibus consent bills of a minor character, and motions to suspend the rules and pass various bills in which members are interested.

Snoring "Corpse" Winds Up Nap in Patrol

ATLANTA, Feb. 28.—When George Russell arrived in Atlanta from Birmingham he inhaled a bit too freely and growing sleepy about the eleventh hour of the night wandered into Greenberg & Bond's undertaking establishment, picked out a nice, soft spot near the cooling board and disposed himself for an evening's rest.

Employees were awakened in the early dawn by the rumble of Russell's snores. They investigated, found Russell and declared the police to come get him. Russell brushed his nap in the patrol.

Co-Eds at Radcliffe Are Required to Use Shower

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 28.—Failure to swim means the loss of a degree at Princeton, and unfortunately with French places one on probation at Harvard. It remained, however, for Radcliffe to put compulsory shower bathing.

Miss Wright, the college's nominal mistress, announces that shower bathing is compulsory after all gym classes. Failure to comply means attendance counts only one-half, and several who served from the air were being severely reduced marks and probation.
